Response to Amendment

The amendment filed on 03/07/06 is sufficient to overcome the prior art reference. The arguments regarding claims 20 and 21 (see remarks page 8) are also accepted.

Allowable Subject Matter

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Claims 20 and 21 are allowable because the prior art of record fails to disclose or suggest or teach the recited pairs being alternately stacked with respect to one another with the first and second return troughs engaging one another whereby the return apertures are aligned to define a return tank, the inlet troughs engaging one another whereby the inlet apertures are aligned to define a first and second inlet manifolds, and the outlet troughs engaging one another whereby the outlet apertures are aligned to define an outlet manifold, whereby the center portions of the pair of first plates are spaced apart to define a fluid pathway communicating with the return tank and the first and second inlet manifolds and the center portion of the pair of second plates are spaced apart to define a fluid pathway communicating with the return tank and the outlet manifold (see claim 20); an inlet manifold defined in the first and second pairs of receiving the fluid to be evaporated, the inlet manifold in communication with the first cavity relative to the first and second cavities for directing the fluid through the evaporator in a first direction; a return tank defined in the first and second pairs of plates opposite the inlet manifold, the return tank defined in the first and second pairs of plates opposite the inlet manifold, the return tank in communication with the first cavity for directing the fluid through the first cavity and in communication with the second cavity for directing the fluid through the evaporator in a second direction opposite the first direction; and an outlet manifold in communication with only the second cavity relative to the first and second cavities for evacuating the fluid from the second cavity out of the evaporator (see claim 21).

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Mohammad M. Ali whose telephone number is (571) 272-4806. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday to Friday.
